

You gave me so much

You gave me your hand when I was lonely
You gave me self-esteem when I felt so confused
You gave me your sweetest smile
And told me that everything would be all right

You gave me hope and dreams

You gave me a compass when I was off course
You gave me a beacon to come home to
You gave me your joy
And shared with me my pain

You gave me the strength not to be frightened anymore

You gave me the time to find myself
You gave me your love and nights full of tenderness
You gave me the sun, the moon, the stars
And the music I had missed so much

You gave me The Disease without knowing
